W. Germany Asks Allies to Help Smash Blockade

Red Taxes on Supply Trucks in Effect Tonight

West Berlin Gov't Authorizes Loans To Trucking Firms

BERLIN (AP) — The West German government asked Allied intervention tonight to smash a Communist "economic blockade" of highways carrying nearly half of Berlin's food.

The "blockade" will start when new Communist taxes on trucks moving into West Berlin go into effect at midnight tonight — the seventh anniversary of the start of the paralyzing Soviet blockade of 1948.

The new tolls are being imposed by the Soviets on the pretext the money is needed for highway repairs. They are 14 times the current rate, and officials estimate they will cost an estimated 15 million dollars yearly.

The West Berlin city government has authorized loans of one million marks ($250,000) to trucking firms to keep their vehicles moving through the toll zones.

Asks Immediate Action

But in the West German capital of Bonn, the lower house of Parliament called on the Western Allies to intervene to end the Berlin highway tax cancelled.

The Bundestag by unanimous vote asked the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to appeal to the Western Allied high commissioners to contact the Soviets at once.

The Communists stepped up their pressure. East German newspapers accused the West German government of preparing "provocations" against the East—the usual Communist procedure before announcing some new action against the West.

In retaliation for prohibitory taxes imposed by the Reds on trucks supplying West Berlin, the West German government broke off trade talks with the East German side this morning.

Anniversary of 1948 Blockade

New Communist taxes on Berlin's trucks who supply nearly half the city's food go into effect at midnight tonight—seventh anniversary of the start of the crippling Soviet blockade of 1948.

The city's executive council voted a grant of one million marks as a "temporary measure" after the West Berlin mayor said the city's 850 truckers must get through "no matter what the cost."

But it is only enough to pay the Communists exorbitant tolls for two weeks.

The action came as Allied High Commission officials met West German officials in Bonn in a search for urgent measures to smash or circumvent the "cold blockade."

It was reported they might draft a stiff protest note to the Russians charging them with violating the 1949 four-power agreement guaranteeing free access to this cold war battleground 110 miles inside East Germany.

No West German official doubted the Russians were behind the new tax by which the East German government upped the highway tolls from an average $5 to $79, with some trucks costing as much as $100 depending on their weight.

The Communist Zone explanation was that the taxes were needed to improve the big autobahns built by the Hitler regime.

NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD OFFICIALS met with a group of Harrisburg citizens Wednesday to discuss the possibility of industry coming to Harrisburg. The officials, who stated Harrisburg had been in an unfavorable position in the past due to the water shortage, were impressed with Lake Harrisburg. They stated they could now recommend Harrisburg to industry as a possible location as all other requirements—transportation, utilities, coal and other minerals and labor—were available. At the rear, left to right, are Fred Holtman, industrial agent; R. H. Gates, assistant real estate agent; E. E. Exon, real estate and tax agent; and B. A. Stauber, assistant real estate and tax agent. All are from the New York Central's Cincinnati office. At extreme right is Mayor Ralph Horning Jr. of the Jaycees. Plant Official To Meet with Eldorado Group

A meeting regarding the $3,000,000 gasoline plant for the Eldorado oil field will be held at Eldorado April 8, it was announced today by Atty. Ralph W. Chissoer, manager of the John Stelle Associates offices at Eldorado. The meeting will be held at the Eldorado Lions club den.

William Warren, president of the Warren Petroleum Co. of Tulsa, Okla., will be present at the meeting, at which a few minor points will be thrashed out prior to the signing of a contract for the plant, Chissoer stated.

Also, John Stelle will be present from Miami, Fla., to enter into the negotiations with Mr. Warren. Stelle is chairman of the Eldorado operators' group that was named to negotiate with the Warren company regarding the contract.

If the contract is signed April 8, work on constructing the plant will start immediately, Chissoer added.

On March 10 Stelle announced that a $3,000,000 plant of the Warren Petroleum Co. would be located in the Eldorado field and predicted it would be in operation in 90 days. At no time has any indication of a site for the plant been hinted.

The plant would extract gasoline, butane and propane from the natural gases coming from the oil wells.

Begin Real Estate, Personal Property Assessment Friday

Township assessors of Saline county met Wednesday at the court house to receive their books and materials and will begin the assessment and real estate and personal property Friday.

Taxes payable in 1956 will be based on these assessments.

At the Wednesday meeting assessors agreed not to exempt personal property of widows from assessments, as has been the case in some instances.

It was pointed out that the Illinois statutes provide for the assessment of all property except that specifically exempt by law, such as property belonging to churches, charitable organizations, schools and municipalities.

It was brought out that the county right now is badly in need of all the revenue it can get.

It also was pointed out that all property owners must sign a personal property schedule, taking an oath that the property listed is a full and complete and correct schedule of all personal property subject to taxation.

Commission Approves Bills To Aid Schools

New Distributive Formula to Guarantee $200 Per Pupil

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois School Problems Commission Wednesday approved its final report and bills which will carry out the new state school aid formula.

The new school aid distributive formula, accepted by Gov. William G. Stratton's budget message Monday, will guarantee each qualifying school district $200 per pupil from state and local revenues.

The formula requires school districts to levy a higher minimum tax to qualify for state equalization aid. The state "equalizes" educational funds at $200 per pupil by making up the difference between $200 and the tax revenues of the school district.

Elementary and high school districts will have to increase tax rates from 40 cents per $100 property valuation to 50 cents, and unit districts from 50 cents to 62 cents.

Another bill approved by the School Problems Commission Wednesday would permit school districts, by referendum, to levy a higher maximum tax for educational purposes. Under present law the highest tax for grade and high school districts is $1.12½ and the highest tax for unit districts permitted is $1.77½. Under the bill these maximums would be raised to $1.25 and $2, respectively.

Approve Other Bills

The Commission also approved several other bills for submission to the legislature. These would:

Give children authority to direct school traffic and give schools the right to work out school traffic control plans with other agencies; but it would not authorize children to handle motor vehicle traffic unless this became part of the community plan.

Require all schools to conduct nine-month school years. Presently, some 700 schools hold school only eight months and commission members contended that with the higher $200 equalization formula, these schools, mostly one-teacher rural schools, should be required to improve their "backward" educational programs.

Require in school district boundary changes when the district acquiring territory lies in a different county from the territory to be annexed, that county boards of school trustees in both counties approve the change. Only the county board of the acquiring county must approve the change under present law.

Reduce the different kinds of teacher's certificates from 22 to 8, but not effect any certificates held by teachers when the law goes into effect.

Reduction in kinds of teacher's certificates has no effect on teaching standards, but is an attempt to reduce the confusion resulting from so many different certificates.

Nehru Urges Big Power Talks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today the international situation was "growing worse" and called for big power talks to avert a catastrophe.

Grace Kelly, a fellow New Yorker who has been in the movies only a year, was given the nod over veteran Judy Garland as the best actress.

Before the event, Judy Garland, who staged a comeback in "A Star Is Born," and Bing Crosby, one of Hollywood's best-loved citizens and star of "The Country Girl," were hot favorites to win. Miss Garland was rushed to the hospital to have a baby ahead of schedule Tuesday and viewed the presentations on television.

Rev. Peter W. Fischer Called as Interim Pastor at Presbyterian Church

Rev. Peter W. Fischer, who has been active as a Presbyterian minister since 1917, will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church of Harrisburg as interim pastor. He will hold his first service Sunday, April 3.

He has been called to preach at the local Presbyterian church until a full time pastor is called. The pulpit of the church became vacant following the church services Sunday, March 27. Rev. John P. Emig, who had served here more than four years resigned to accept a call to the Presbyterian church at Edwardsville and he and Mrs. Emig left for their new home earlier this week.

For the past five years Rev. and Mrs. Fischer were superintendent of the Kemmerer Children's home—the Presbyterian children's home of Illinois. They just recently retired and now live on a farm north of Goreville.

Rev. Fischer is a native of St. Louis and a graduate of the St. Louis public schools.

He was called to the ministry as a young man and graduated from Westminster Academy and college at Fulton, Mo., in 1914. He then entered McCormick Theology Seminary and graduated from there in 1917.

While in seminary he began preaching in Cicero, Ill., and preached there for 19 years. He has had two short pastorates in St. Louis, was superintendent of the Presbyterian orphanage at Fulton, Mo., for more than six years, served in a country parish near Decatur about five years and then went to Kemmerer Children's home.

The Fischers have three daughters, all married, and seven grandchildren. One daughter, Ruth, was home economics teacher at Harrisburg Township high school prior to her marriage in 1945.

Rev. Fischer states that as long as health permits he expects to help churches in the Cairo Presbyterian as interim pastor and will begin this ministry with the Harrisburg church Sunday, April 3.

Army Boosts May Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will draft 10,000 men in May, 2,000 more than in April, the Defense Department announced today.

The May draft call will bring 1,888,430 the total of men drafted since the Korean War started. All were for the Army except 81,430 drafted for the Marines early in the war.

Defense officials offered no immediate explanation for boosting the May call by 2,000 men. But observers assumed the figure was related closely to the ebb and flow of new volunteers and re-enlistments.

Marlon Brando, Grace Kelly Win Oscars for Best Performances

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marlon Brando, a three-time loser in the annual battle for Oscars, won the motion picture Academy Award Thursday night for the best male performance in 1954.

Grace Kelly, a fellow New Yorker who has been in the movies only a year, was given the nod over veteran Judy Garland as the best actress.

Joseph Pulitzer, World Famous Publisher, Dies

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Joseph Pulitzer, 70-year-old editor and publisher of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died Wednesday night within a few hours after a sudden rupture of an abdominal blood vessel.

Death came at Barnes Hospital 10 days after the world-famous newspaperman had attended a party in honor of his 70th birthday anniversary.

Associates said Pulitzer worked at his third-floor office desk until 6:30 p. m. and left for home in apparent good spirits and health. They said he was stricken during the evening at home and was taken to the hospital immediately. Death followed shortly afterward.

Pulitzer, whose newspaper sponsored the annual Pulitzer Prize awards for journalistic excellence and owned KSD Radio and KSD-TV, set exacting standards for Post-Dispatch editors and reporters.

Politically Independent Paper

The newspaper was fearlessly independent politically. It supported Democrat Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 presidential campaign, but only Wednesday came out in vigorous defense of President Eisenhower.

In commenting on the criticism by Sen. Matthew M. Neely (D-W. Va.) of Mr. Eisenhower's church going, the Post-Dispatch said "the very least that can be said about Senator Neely's attack on President Eisenhower's church attendance is that it is inexcusably poor taste."

Pulitzer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Pulitzer, his second wife; two sons, Joseph Pulitzer Jr., vice president and associate editor of the Post-Dispatch, and Michael E. Pulitzer, a lawyer and Beverly Farms, Mass., and two daughters, Mrs. Elwood R. Quesada, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Louis Hempelmann, Rochester, N. Y. There are eight young grandchildren.

A good example of the working of the Pulitzer mind and conscience was his handling of the Centralia, Ill., mine explosion in which 111 miners lost their lives through the negligence of the State Mine Inspection Board, caught between politicians and mine owners.

He dictated one of his memoirs to Ben Reese, the managing editor of the paper, directing him to fix responsibility for the tragedy through a review of it and try to stimulate the punishment of the guilty.

The Post-Dispatch's journalistic indictment of Governor Dwight H. Green helped to earn the paper a Pulitzer Prize and to oust Green from office. Standing for re-election, he was defeated by the most overwhelming vote ever registered in Illinois.

Pulitzer recently took up the cudgel against labor racketeering in St. Louis and southern Illinois.

Sen. Langer is Lone Dissenter In 14-1 Vote

George Hopes Senate Will Ratify Before Easter Recess

By United Press

The Senate Foreign Relations committee today approved the West German rearmament agreements.

The Senate is scheduled to take up the pact Friday. Quick approval is expected.

The committee vote was 14-1. The dissenter was Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.).

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said he hopes the Senate will ratify the pact before starting its Easter recess this weekend.

The United States is prepared to rush arms to build up West Germany as a bulwark in the Allied defenses against Communist aggression in Europe.

Other congressional news:

Subpena: The Senate investigating subcommittee voted angrily to subpoena foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen. The group is investigating contracts for grain elevators in Pakistan. Stassen ruled that Foreign Operations Administration employees could not talk to the subcommittee staff in the absence of FOA counsel. So the subcommittee subpoenaed Stassen himself for public testimony next Wednesday.

Yalta papers: The Senate Foreign Relations committee voted unanimously to demand from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles a full explanation of the circumstances surrounding the State Department's release of the long-secret Yalta papers.

Cut: President Eisenhower asked Congress to cut the fiscal 1956 appropriation for the Atomic Energy Commission by $75,900,000. He said the cut could be made because of "savings in operations."

Plane: Members of a Joint Atomic Energy subcommittee bluntly advised the Air Force to speed up its work on an atomic-powered airplane. The committee's demand was conveyed to Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, at a closed-door meeting.

Hospitals: The House voted 30-million dollars to begin a program of modernizing old veterans hospitals, some of which have been described as fire traps.

Market: Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the Senate Banking committee will resume its stock market investigation in about a month on a limited scale. He said recent hearings established a "solid foundation" for study of particular phases of stock trading.

Far East: President Eisenhower had a chance of winning new Democratic support for his policy toward Quemoy and Matsu.

Mr. Eisenhower gained some Democratic backing Wednesday after personally briefing House leaders of both parties on foreign problems. He was to hold a similar briefing for Senate leaders today.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said in advance of today's meeting that the President is right in keeping the Red Chinese guessing about whether we will defend the offshore islands.

None of the seven House Democrats at Wednesday's briefing expressed any criticism of the President's policies. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services committee said he was "in complete agreement" with the administration's handling of "a most delicate situation in Asia."

Adlai's Dilemma

Editorial — BY BRUCE BROSSAT
Again and again Adlai Stevenson must privately chide the peculiar fates that have dogged him since 1952. Life in politics has offered him few easy decisions, and the choices ahead look just as tough for him.

In the spring of 1952 he was running for a second term as governor of Illinois. Pressures built up to make him Democratic nominee for President. All the evidence indicates he honestly fought the idea, though he never quite closed the door.

Nevertheless, he was sufficiently reluctant to discourage some of his most ardent backers, right in the thick of the convention struggle. Perhaps only Big Labor's decision to scuttle the venerable Al-ben Barkley of Kentucky brought Stevenson back into the picture — through a genuine draft.

In any event, he had the poor luck to draw Dwight D. Eisenhower for an opponent. This and other factors sent him tumbling to defeat by some 6,500,000 votes. Yet Stevenson managed to emerge from this rough combat a strong national figure and unquestionably powerful within his party.

From that moment on, it was said he could have the 1956 nomination if he wanted it. They're still saying that, and very likely it's true. No real challenger looms on the horizon.

But this hasn't made Stevenson's life any easier. For the question he faces in 1956, as in 1952, is not whether he can get the nomination
but whether he wants it.
Most political sages think Mr.
Eisenhower will run again. And since his popularity is now near its all-time high and seldom has fallen far short of that peak, the prospects of beating him are viewed as slim.

Frequently these days one hears the report that Stevenson would like to run for the Senate in Illinois against the Republican incumbent Everett Dirksen. Should he decide to do this, he would not of course, foreclose a later chance to accept the presidential nomination again. Still, having already abandoned a governorship nomination once, it seems plain Stevenson would be strongly minded to stick to his original choice another time.

If we suppose he did jump into a Senate race and stay there, then the experts agree he would be incurring the party's full wrath should there be strong demand for him in the presidential berth. Most observers feel it would be risky for him to reject a presidential bid in 1956 on the assumption he might run at some more advantageous time (after Mr. Eisenhower has retired). Party leaders usually turn elsewhere once a man has shunned their overtures.
So Stevenson, who no doubt hoped furiously he'd never have any other choice like that he faced in 1952, is pretty much back in the same old boat. You couldn't blame him if he wished for a friendlier shake of the political dice.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike's political advisers remember his pledge for peace; this pledge may save nation from defending Quemoy and Matsu; Democrats were advertised as bloodthirsty war party.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower finds himself in a paradoxical and difficult position as he confers with congressional leaders on what the United States should do in the Formosa crisis.

First he finds almost all of his top military-diplomatic advisers, including his secretary of state, in favor of defending Quemoy and Matsu even at the risk of precipitating World War III.

On the other hand, in addition to his own deep personal views against war, the President cannot get away from the political fact that he was elected on a platform to keep the nation out of war.

There may come a time in the life of any president when he has to make a fateful decision to retreat no further, a decision which may take the nation into war. Eisenhower advisers are telling him that that time has now come and that the United States must defend China's tiny offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. Such defense almost certainly means the atom-bombing of the Chinese mainland with all that goes with it—war.

On the other hand, Ike's political advisers remember all too well the hitherto untold circumstances of a key political decision made during the 1952 presidential campaign. It was a decision which vitaly affects the talks now going on at the White House.

MRS. SMITH SAYS NO.
During that campaign, Republican polls showed that the women's vote was slipping away from Ike.
So, at a top strategy meeting, attended by Eisenhower, Sherman Adams, Henry Luce of Life, Time, and Fortune, C. D. Jackson, an associate of Luce's who later became White House psychological adviser, and others, it was proposed that General Eisenhower move to settle the Korean war and bring the boys home.

Sherman Adams then phoned Sen. Margaret Chase Smith in Maine, told her about the slipping women's vote and asked her to make a major speech promising women that a vote for Ike would be a vote for bringing their sons and husbands home.

Mrs. Smith refused. She said this was playing dangerous politics with peace; that Eisenhower might not be able to settle the Korean war, in which case the promise would boomerang.

Later, Eisenhower himself phoned Senator Smith, pleaded that he might lose the election unless the Republicans dramatized the "peace think—

in Korea" issue. Mrs. Smith still refused.
So the GOP high command switched strategy and had the general himself make the speech promising to go to Korea personally and settle the war.

Incidentally, India Edwards, then vice chairman of the Democratic National committee, heard about the proposal and asked Senator Smith to make a statement putting peace above politics. This again Mrs. Smith refused to do. She said this too would be playing politics—for the Democrats.

PUBLIC REMEMBERED PROMISES
Republican strategists have since credited their 1952 victory to the women's vote and the campaign for peace. In fact, they have considered it such a potent issue that time after time they have urged that the White House and State Department not reverse it.

Early in 1954, for instance, Secretary of State Dulles threatened "massive retaliation" against the Reds if they continued their aggression in Indo-China. Vice President Nixon also stated that the United States was ready to use
U. S. land troops in Indo-China.
All this was part of a campaign to prepare the public for any eventuality in Indo-China.

However, letters began pouring in from wives and mothers that Indo-China wasn't worth risking their sons and husbands. So the planned tough policy in Indo-China was reversed.

Later in the same year, GOP strategists pounded home the peace theme during the fall election.
Waiting until just before elections, Republican speakers were instructed to harp on the idea that the Democrats had got the United States into three wars and that only Republicans could be trusted to keep the peace.

All over the United States identical advertisements appeared reading in part:
"Let's forget 3 great wars!
Three great wars with the horror, the heartaches, the cruelly maintained bodies, and widows and orphans and sorrowing mothers. Three great wars in our generation during terms of three Democratic presidents. Here is the gruesome score."

Then followed the casualties of World War I, World War II, and the Korean War.

"In less than two years President Eisenhower and the Republican statesmen," continued the ads,
"have opened a new vista of peace on earth goodwill to men! Republican leadership has pointed the way. The Republican party has proved that this great nation can have prosperity in peace. So when you cast your ballot on Tuesday think—

"The son you save may be your own."

Then followed a quote from Dwight D. Eisenhower: "I thank God that today there is not in the whole world an active battlefield."
"Vote straight Republican ticket" were the concluding words of this highly effective advertisement.

WILL DEMOCRATS FORGET?
Variations of this ad appeared all over the country. One read:
"I proudly voted Republican because I was tired of watching New Deal Democrats kill our sons and daughters in a senseless hot war."

Another, appearing in the St.
Charles, Ill., Chronicle of Oct. 27, showed an ambulance carrying away war wounded. Below was the caption: "Remember the total destruction of Nagasaki? It could be total destruction of Aurora and Elgin including you. The above disaster scene could be ours. Vote straight Republican."

These ads in Illinois materially cut the commanding lead of Sen.
Paul Douglas, Democrat, a Marine hero of World War II. In some other states they are credited with defeating some Democratic candidates.

But having blamed the Democrats for war, Eisenhower's political advisers feel he is stuck with that policy—regardless of Secretary Dulles and military advisers—unless he can persuade Democratic leaders to endorse the Dulles policy of risking war over the small islands of Quemoy and Mat-su.

That's partly what the current White House meetings are all about.

Note—Various senators and congressmen have informed me that they would be delighted to receive more reaction from the people back home as to whether the United States should take a definite stand in the defense of Quemoy and Mat-su; or whether we should defend Formosa only; or whether we should not get involved in any problems in the Far East. In keeping with the democratic principle of representative government, they would be happy to hear from their constituents.

Blonde Deaf Mute Excels at Job

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—The pretty blonde in the Industrial Rayon Corp. offices looks up and smiles when visitors come in, but she doesn't say a word.

Twenty-four-year-old Joan Kalal has been a deaf mute since childhood, yet she holds a responsible position in the tabulating department of a large organization.

She learned to read lips at the Alexander Graham Bell school here and has no difficulty understanding a clear-spoken person. Responding, of course, involves writing.

Joan's boss, Edward S. Norris, has had her in his office six years and wouldn't consider a change.

"She learned to operate this complicated key punching machine in no time at all," he said. "She is both fast and versatile."

Blue-eyed Joan isn't a wall-flower, even though communication is restricted. She enjoys dancing and won a waltz audition several years ago. Later she appeared on television in a demonstration waltz.

The earth has an area of 196,940-
400 square miles, of which 55,885-000 square miles are land and 141-

U. S. Making 91 Types of Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—To maintain American air supremacy in commercial and military aviation, the United States aircraft industry today is producing 91 different models of airplanes, exclusive of pilot-less aircraft.

Planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association, said its recent survey showed that 28 different airplane manufacturers have a total of 65 military aircraft models in production—ranging from light liaison types to super-sonic bombers. In addition, 26 models of civil aircraft are being built for the world commercial market.

The AIA survey also showed that nine models of military helicopters are in production and that six helicopter models are available to the commercial market.

Significant indication that we are maintaining leadership in the air is that, for the first time, engine manufacturers are building more different models of jet engines than of piston engines, the magazine said.

Speeding Leading Cause of Illinois Traffic Accidents

SPRINGFIELD — An analysis of 1954 Illinois traffic accidents showed driving too fast for road conditions was the leading cause, State Public Works Director Edwin A. Rosenstone said today.

The study covered 23,948 accidents involving 43,375 drivers. Male drivers outnumbered women 8:1 and drivers in the 25-34 age bracket led other age groups in accidents.

Rosenstone said motorists traveled more than 29,250,000,000 miles on Illinois roads in 1954, an increase of 1 per cent over 1953.

Meanwhile, the Republican State Central Committee issued a statement crediting Gov. William G. Stratton and Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter with improving highway safety.

The GOP statement said highway traffic deaths dropped 6 per cent in 1954. It said Stratton's roadbuilding program and Carpenter's enforcement of a stricter driver's license law played a part in the traffic toll reduction.

Dense Dust Storm Spreads Across Panhandle

AMARILLO, Tex. — A dense black dust storm spread from southeastern Colorado over the Texas Panhandle today. A meteorologist at the Amarillo Weather Bureau said it was "one of the all-time greats."

The visibility was reduced to zero at Dalhart, Tex., and at La Junta, Colo. It was expected to drop as low as one-eighth mile at Amarillo.

"The dust bank is about 400 to 500 miles in width, extending from the mountain ranges in eastern Colorado and New Mexico into central Kansas," Chief Forecaster H. C. Winburn said.

"At present there is no serious erosion in the Texas Panhandle, but the front is picking up local dust as it moves along," he said.

"The dust is about 20,000 feet high."

Winburn said the dust storm moved in from Colorado and southwestern Kansas with a cold front. "This is the worst storm of the year for the Panhandle," Winburn said. "It's as thick as the black dust that hit Amarillo Feb. 19. That storm had winds up to 60 miles per hour for 19 hours and dust for 27 hours."

FHA Surveys Crop Damage for Emergency Loans

He said that as soon as needs are determined local FHA county offices in Illinois will be authorized to accept applications.

Mamie, Woman at Reception Wear Identical Dresses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Duries Crane had planned to go home after a fashion show-lunch and change her dress before going to a reception in honor of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But she didn't. And before she knew what was happening, she was shaking hands Wednesday with a woman in the same dress — Mrs. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Crane clutched her fur cape around her and tried to slip by with a handshake and a smile. But the First Lady was too quick for her.

"Oh, you're wearing the same dress. I just love it, don't you?" said the First Lady.

"I just hope I look one-third as nice in mine as you do in yours," said the blushing Mrs. Crane.

Mrs. Eisenhower wore the distinctive Molly Parnis green print silk taffeta with its bow tied at the neck. Mrs. Crane, wife of a Washington businessman, wore the neck open.

"It's not really the same..." began Mrs. Crane. "Oh, yes it is," Mrs. Eisenhower said, opening up Mrs. Crane's tightly clenched jacket. "You just took off the bow. What a good idea."

Mrs. Crane told reporters at the tea she was "so embarrassed I could die." She kept her jacket on for the rest of the party and stayed as far away from Mrs. Eisenhower as she could.

Charges Oil Companies Build Excess Stations

WASHINGTON — A representative of Detroit gasoline station operators told Congress Wednesday that major oil companies are trying to keep down the retailers' margin of profit by building excess gas stations.

Cash B. Hawley, vice president of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, made the statement in testimony before a House small business subcommittee headed by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.).

The subcommittee is investigating charges that 22 major oil companies, which also own and operate retail service stations, discriminate unfairly against other retailers.

Hawley said the oil companies discriminate against retailers in various ways. He complained that, among other things, they sell gasoline below cost, compel operators of their own stations to stay open too long, and operate their stations at a loss.

He said these practices were designed to keep down the margin between the price paid by gas stations operators to wholesalers and the price they sell it to the public.

George Gobel, McGuire Sisters to Appear at Du Quoin State Fair

DU QUOIN, Ill. — Television comedy star George Gobel will appear on the Labor Day show Sept. 5 at the Du Quoin State Fair, E. J. Hayes, president of the fair, announced today.

The McGuire sisters have been engaged for nightly performances at the fair's run Aug. 29 through Sept. 5, Hayes said.

A-Bomb Casualty Group Reports on Radiation Effects

LOS ANGELES — A report from the U. S. Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission in Japan showed today that nuclear radiation beneath an atomic blast causes leukemia, eye cataracts and temporary sterility, but the A-bomb doesn't cause blindness.

Some of the offspring of expectant mothers who survived the Hiroshima blast have smaller heads and show mental retardation, the report disclosed.

Children, it said, are more susceptible to atomic radiation than adults.

These effects of radiation apply only to persons subjected to the initial blast, within the roughly four-mile perimeter of destruction wrought by the atomic fireball, and not to radioactive "fall out" beyond that area, it was pointed out.

The effects were determined from a study of some 6,000 irradiated persons among the more than 33,000 Japanese who survived within 14 miles of the atomic explosion that leveled Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945.

Spring Enrollment At SIU Totals 4,242

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Spring enrollment at Southern Illinois university is up 57 per cent over two years ago, the Registrar's Office reported today.

Resident enrollment reached 4,242 one week after the beginning of the spring quarter, according to Registrar Robert A. McGrath. He predicted a slight increase in that total with late registrations.

Included among resident students are 4,198 on-campus and at the Vocational-Technical Institute day school, and 44 at the Belleville Residence Center. This represents a 24.5 per cent enrollment gain over last year's spring total and is 57 per cent above the spring 1953 term.

On campus and at the VTI, McGrath said, there are 1,377 freshmen, 914 sophomores, 627 juniors, and 515 seniors. Graduate students number 276, unclassified under graduates 96, and VTI students 393.

Eisenhower Signs Bill Continuing Corp. Excise Sales Taxes

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower signed Wednesday night a bill continuing corporation and excise sales taxes at present rates for another year.

By a 386-8 roll call vote, the House Wednesday rushed the Senate-approved measure to the White House just in time to prevent a scheduled drop in tax rates.

Had the rates been allowed to drop, the Treasury would have lost an estimated $2,830,000,000 in revenue.

'Beautification Day' at Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. — This is "B-Day" in this southern Illinois community.

The "B" stands for beautification and the project is the first to emerge from 23 weeks of community analysis of ways to improve.

Students worked with firemen in hosting down and scrubbing streets. Trucks toured residential areas to pick up trash.

Scores of citizens volunteered to clean up Keyes Park in the heart of the city.

High school students rang doorbells at about 2,000 homes Wednesday night to remind citizens of "B-Day."

UAW Re-Elects Reuther and Other Officers

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The United Auto Workers (CIO) constitutional convention turned its attention today to the 1955 collective bargaining program and the guaranteed annual wage increase, the main issue confronting the nation's auto makers this year.

The 3,000 delegates to the 15th annual gathering quickly disposed of elections Wednesday by returning an unopposed slate of officers.

President Walter Reuther, who has headed the 1,300,000-member union since 1936, was re-elected along with Vice Presidents Richard Gosser and John Livingston, and Secretary Treasurer Emil Mazey.

Norman Matthews of Detroit and Leonard Woodcock of Grand Rapids, Mich., backed by the Reuther group, were elected to newly created vice presidencies.

Reuther, referring to the collective bargaining program, said it would include a wage boost and improved health and pension plans. The amount of the wage increase was not revealed but Reuther said it would be "based on recognized principles."

Brennan to 'Keep It Simple' for Irish Gridders During Spring Practice

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Terry Brennan said today he'd "keep it simple" for his Notre Dame football team during the 20 days of spring practice leading up to his second season as head coach of the Irish.

"We're only going to use seven plays," he said. "Mostly we're going to work on fundamentals and try to find out what we've got and where we can use it."

"If we can find a tentative first team line, get the fundamentals

Boxer Remains in Critical Condition

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Young boxer Bryan Thompson remained in a "critical" condition and still unconscious in St. Francis Hospital today more than a day after being knocked out in his first professional bout.

Thompson, a 23-year-old Philadelphia, had been unconscious "for a time," a hospital official reported early today. Late Wednesday his condition varied between semi-consciousness and total unconsciousness.

Thompson, a national AAU champion and All-Army titleholder was knocked out in the second round of his pro debut on Tuesday night by Jerry Luedde of New Haven, Conn.

Physicians at the hospital reported Thompson seemed to have suffered "some brain damage" but said they expected him to survive. Hospital authorities said the damage, which was indicated by x-rays, may be only temporary.

down, and learn those seven basic plays, I'll be satisfied."

Six Linemen Gone

Brennan had a problem in replacements. He lost six of his first line, two of his backs. The returning lineman, Ray Lemek, won't be out for spring practice due to a knee operation, and Brennan won't know until September whether he'll be able to play.

End Bob Kapish, who might have been on the first team last season but for a bad knee, was scheduled for an operation in two weeks and it was uncertain whether he would be available in the fall.

Brennan listed nine freshmen from the 1954 team who might help solve his problems, but only two of them warranted mention as potential first team material, halfback Dick Wilkins, Duncan, Okla., and lineman Al Francis, San Jose, Calif.

"Francis is a big strong kid," Brennan said, "and he'll fit in somewhere in the middle of the line, guard or tackle probably. Wilkins is a hard runner, and he can play fullback."

Not Worried About Backs

Other newcomers who could come up for reserve duty at least included ends Dick Prendergast and Bob Witucki, halfbacks Dick Lynch and Aubrey Lewis, quarterback Carl Hebert, and linemen Paul Djabasak and Frank Kuchta. Brennan was counting more than on three line reserves from last season, tackle Wayne Edmonds, guard Pat Biscaglia and center Jim Mense.

Despite backfield losses, Brennan was less concerned there than with the line. Jim Morse will return for one halfback job, and Don Schaefer can play either quarterback or fullback. Paul Horning can alternate with Schaefer, and if Wilkins comes through, Brennan has a backfield.

He figured, however, that senior Paul Reynolds, handicapped always in the past by a bad knee, also could break into his starting backfield if his injury doesn't recur.

Briefs from Training Camps

DODGERS BEAT BRAVES, 3 TO 2

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves' front line pitchers have been uniformly effective against Brooklyn this spring but they have not prevented the Dodgers from taking a 3-1 edge in the series.

It was more of the same Wednesday at Mobile, Ala., when Lew Burdette permitted only one run in five innings only to have the Dodgers score twice off Jim Wilson for a 3-2 triumph. Wilson yielded the winning runs in the sixth on four walks and a single by outfielder Sandy Amoros.

HEADGEAR SAVES SHANTZ FROM SERIOUS INJURY

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Shantz, the Kansas City Athletics' key pitcher, disclosed today that he "just remembered" to put on his protective headgear only a few moments before he was struck on the head by a line drive in Tuesday's exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He suffered only a cut ear.

Shantz said it was the first time this spring that he had worn the headgear but added, "I'll tell you for sure I won't ever take it off."

YANKEES SELL BLACKWELL, GORMAN, KRYHOSKI TO KANSAS CITY A'S

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees were expected to make their first large squad cut today before breaking camp to begin an eight-game trip northward.

Particular interest centered on whether Negro catcher-outfielder Elston Howard and rookie pitcher Johnny Kucks would stay with the squad. Both were expected to be retained, although Kucks was hit hard Wednesday in the Yankees' 10-10, 12-inning tie with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Yankees disposed of three supernumeraries Wednesday when they sold pitchers Ewell Blackwell and Tom Gorman and first baseman Dick Kryhoski to the Kansas City Athletics for an undisclosed sum.

PORTERFIELD WINS THIRD VICTORY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Bob Porterfield pointed to a 3-0 Grapefruit league record today as evidence he's ready for the Washington Senators' opening day mound assignment.

Porterfield was credited with his third victory of the spring Wednesday in an 8-5 win over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

RED SOX SEND HURLER TO FARM CLUB

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Guy Morton Jr., son of a former Cleveland Indians' pitcher, was sent by the Boston Red Sox today to their Montgomery, Ala., farm club.

The Red Sox, who play the Philadelphia Phillies today, were battered Wednesday by the Detroit Tigers, 9-3.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Cardinal Pitching Doesn't Worry Stanky—He Hasn't Any

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (NEA) — The Cardinals are better, but there is no indication that their pitching will be.

Kenny Boyer, up from Houston, looks like the best third baseman the St. Louis Nationals have had since Lester Bell led the World Champions of 1926 in batting. If he's as good as he looks, Stanky ob-viously fears the worst, for in addition to big Smith, six others, five right-handed, already have been assigned to the bull pen. They are, perhaps in the order of their importance, Bobby Tiefenauer, Tony Jacobs, Stu Miller, Gerge Schultz, Paul LaPalme and Herb Moford. LaPalme is the lone southpaw, so if the former Pirate has any luck, it might be well for him to purchase a motor scooter.

Stanky suggests that you remember the name of Tiefenauer, a 25-year-old who developed a knuckler at Houston and demands the work he is quite likely to get. Schultz, Moford bagged 17 for Columbus.

"I like baseball too much to have problems in it," said Eddie Stanky, autographing a ball for one of the 299,999 old pappy guys who decorate St. Petersburg's famous green benches at this time of year. "I have concerns. My only concern now is pitching, period."

Muggsy Stanky hoped to have Vinegar Bend Mizell out of the Army by July, but now it's October. Vic Raschi suffers from a slipped spinal disk. So Stanky is attempting to build a staff around Harvey Haddix, Brooks Lawrence, Tom Poholsky and Gordon Jones. Poholsky hasn't shown enough to write home about in two campaigns, but was handicapped last year as the result of being sidelined for more than a month with a broken finger. Pitchers shuffled in and out of Busch Stadium in 1954, but Jones claimed and got away with squatters rights.

The bloopers in the red blazers led the league in batting, in nearly every offensive department, including stolen bases.

But they were a panting last in pitching and runs scored against. The relief pitching was atrocious. When the starting pitcher departed to keep an early date down town, it was a pretty sure thing that the Cards would take another one on the chin. They lost more high score games than strategist Stanky cares to remember. They dropped 30 or so after being on top in the seventh, eighth or ninth inning.

So it was small wonder the brass gave the Reds Gerry Staley and Ray Jablonski for Fireman Frank Smith. The harassed Stanky obviously fears the worst, for in addition to big Smith, six others, five right-handed, already have been assigned to the bull pen. They are, perhaps in the order of their importance, Bobby Tiefenauer, Tony Jacobs, Stu Miller, Gerge Schultz, Paul LaPalme and Herb Moford. LaPalme is the lone southpaw, so if the former Pirate has any luck, it might be well for him to purchase a motor scooter.

Stanky suggests that you remember the name of Tiefenauer, a 25-year-old who developed a knuckler at Houston and demands the work he is quite likely to get. Schultz, Moford bagged 17 for Columbus.

From Rochester, with excellent earned run averages come Jack Fasholtz, Larry Jackson and Gary Blaylock. Luis Arroyo pitched Houston to the Texas League play-off championship with a phenomenal strikeout record and an out-standing ERA. This Puerto Rican southpaw will get a good look.

Long Tom Alston and Joe Cunningham fight it out for first base until Stanky gives up on one or both. If neither hits, and Virdon turns out to be another Wally Moon, as predicted, Musial—being Musial—will give the infield half of what it has lacked since he re-turned to the outfield. Boyer, a big, good-looking kid, is fairly certain to supply the other half.

Meanwhile, Eddie Stanky's lone concern is finding guys who can get somebody out.

any more unless he has a knuckler," observes Del Rice.

Jacobs who stands no more than 5-9 and weighs only 155, won 25 games while losing 4 in two years as a Triple A fire fighter with earned-run marks of 2.63 and 2.91. Moford bagged 17 for Columbus.

GIANTS DEFEAT INDIANS, 12 TO 11

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The New York Giants and Cleveland Indians put the big fall classic of 1954 on the road today but they'll have to pardon the fans if they ask: "This is a World Series?"

The Giants, who lead in the series, 6-4, scrounged out a 12-11 triumph Wednesday with the aid of an error by second baseman Bobby Avila. Foster Castleman followed the two-out boot with the winning single.

Ralph Kiner, Avila, Art Houtteman and George Strickland homered for the Indians while Gail Harris and Hank Thompson homered for the Giants.

CUBS' ROOKIE IS SIDELINED BY INJURY

Drake, whose spring batting average was .478, suffered the injuries Wednesday when his spikes caught in the ground while he slid into second base during an intra-squad game.

Landry Named Coach Of Notre Dame

Freshman Grid Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Jack Landry, former Notre Dame backfield star, has been named coach of the Irish freshman football team.

He was chosen Wednesday to succeed Frank (Blacky) Johnson, who resigned to become line coach at the University of South Carolina.

Landry was a workhorse full-back for Notre Dame in 1948-50. In his last year, he carried the ball 109 times for 491 yards, an average of 4.5 per carry.

PIRATES RETURN HURLER TO DENVER

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that pitcher Chuck Garmon has been returned to Denver in the Western league. Garmon had a 16-7 record with Denver last season but did not pitch an inning of exhibition ball this spring.

The Pirates bowed to the Baltimore Orioles, 3-1, in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday but bounced back to win the second game, 2-0, for their seventh triumph in their last eight games. The teams resume their spring series today.

Ex-Marine Admits Attack, Denies Murders

CHICAGO (AP) — An ex-Marine confessed a brutal attack upon a middle-aged Indianapolis woman today, but emphatically denied any connection with six murders along the Kentucky-Indiana border.

Paul Wolcott Savery, 33, was captured in his girl friend's apartment Wednesday night and readily confessed beating and stabbing Mrs. Elizabeth Kroetz in Indianapolis on March 21.

However, he denied any connection with the rash of murders in two states in which six persons were shot through the head.

He repeated his denials when questioned specifically about each of the killings in Henderson, Ky., Mount Vernon, Ind., and Evansville, Ind. He also denied any connection with other crimes in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana and offered to take a lie detector test.

Indianapolis detectives, who tracked down Savery, said they were not fully satisfied with his denials and would question him further after he is extradited.

Four of the murder victims were found with their hands tied behind them. All six had been shot through the head.

Three of the victims were killed last Monday at a farm home near the border town of Henderson, Ky. Their hands were bound with lamp cord and authorities called it the work of a "maniac."

On March 21, a 47-year-old mother was found killed in the same way, her hands bound with her own apron. The slaying occurred at Mt. Vernon, Ind., 20 miles from Henderson.

Two other persons were killed with shots through the head last December in Evansville, Ind., 20 miles from Mt. Vernon.

Police said residents of the two state area were becoming panicky for fear the killer would strike again. Hardware stores at Henderson reported a sharp jump in sales of guns and ammunition.

Legislators Propose Spending $808,500 for Investigations

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Illinois lawmakers have proposed spending a whopping total of more than $800,000 to study topics ranging from wine-tapping to alcoholism in the next two years.

A survey of bills introduced in the first half of the six-month 1955 legislative meeting showed today that 27 measures have been submitted for investigation that would cost a total of $808,500.

All but a few call for creation of special commissions to conduct two-year studies, and report back to the Legislature in 1957. The exceptions provide for reports before June 30 of this year.

Not included in the $808,500 figure is a plan to set up an "Illinois State House Commission" with a total of $1,095,000.

Fix Up State House
This group would seek ways of making best use of space in the Capitol, when the new State Office Building is completed. It would spend $900,000 to rehabilitate the State House, $180,000 for equipment and $15,000 for operating expenses of the commission itself.

Gov. William G. Stratton's budget for 1955-57 includes this $1,090,000 item for State House rehabilitation and equipment.

Next biggest commission proposal is $250,000 for a "thorough study" of water and drought conditions in central Illinois, and methods of preventing another water shortage like the current one.

This commission of five senators and five representatives would complete its work and turn in a report by June 15, 1955.

Proposals Duplicate
Some of the proposed commissions overlap, or duplicate. From the $808,500 total, $10,000 can be subtracted because identical bills for that amount to look into recreational possibilities of the Illinois-Mississippi Canal and Sinnissippi Lake have been introduced in both houses, and only one can pass.

But balancing this is the fact that bills for a study of possible development of Horseshoe Lake in Madison and St. Clair counties carry no appropriation yet, a figure presumably to be added by amendment later.

A bill for a commission to study higher education problems ran into difficulty in the House only this week, when there were objections to the $60,000 appropriation. Sponsors were forced to postpone a vote.

Four commissions would be given $50,000 for expenses. They would look into Great Lakes shore erosion, local government services in northeastern Illinois, drainage and storm water problems, and utility rates approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

An investigation to determine how widespread wire-tapping is would be conducted by a 15-member $25,000 commission proposed in the Senate.

Alcoholism is the subject of two measures. One study would cover facilities for treatment of alcoholics, the other all matters pertaining to the sale and use of liquor and liquor laws.

Proposes 'Graceful Way' for Congressmen To Get Out of Office
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) proposed a "graceful way" Wednesday for congressmen to get out of Congress.

He introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to force House and Senate members to retire for 2 years after serving 12 consecutive years.

Curtis said "very few" congressmen come to Washington with the idea of serving more than "a few terms." But some of them, he said, "get caught in a fascinating rut" and keep running for re-election.

He said his proposal "would provide a graceful way" for them to get out of Congress "before they are retired ignominiously by the people at the polls."

March Goes Out Like a Lamb, but Cold Front Moving In
By United Press

March went out like a lamb in the East today, but insisted on acting like a lion in the Great Plains and Western mountains.

A developing cold front dropped temperatures as much as 20 degrees in the northern Plains and northern Rockies and stirred up blowing dust in eastern Colorado.

Douglas, Wyo., got a three-inch snowfall during the night, while 11 inches of new snow piled up at West Yellowstone, Mont., over a 12-hour period. There was 155 inches of snow on the ground at Stampede Pass, Wash., and 73 inches at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the cold front would move into the Midwest today and Friday, dropping temperatures and sending showers across the area's central portion.

BRUSHY

Donald G. Gollhofer, H. M. 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gollhofer, visited relatives and friends from Tuesday through Sunday of last week. He flew home from New York where his ship docked, ending a trip from Japan via Greece, returning the 2000 Greek soldiers and their dead. Donald has finished four years of service for Uncle Sam and re-enlisted for six more years. He plans to make a career of the service. He left Sunday for Kalamazoo, Mich., to visit his brother, James, and family. From there he will fly to New York to again board the troop transport, Gen. R. M. Brothford. Donald has several medals and ribbons and his recent trip was the fourth of the 4000-mile trips he has taken in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hafford visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood Sunday. They went to Crab Orchard lake in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mordach of Clinton, Minn., spent the day Monday with the John C. Small family. They were en route to San Diego, Calif., to visit one of their daughters. The Mordachs lived in Galatia 20 years ago.

L. L. Riegel, Galatia postmaster, and Mrs. Riegel are moving to their country home this week. They sold their town house to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wallace.

The report of the Good Neighbor club last week omitted the names of the new members who joined at the last meeting. They are Mrs. James O. Upton and Mrs. Clifford Winters.

Mrs. Wilma Hurley is a new member of the Galatia Home Bureau unit. The Handicraft club met last Tuesday and made bas-

Military Pay Boost Bill Goes To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a Presidential signature was needed today for some 2 million military personnel to start drawing bigger pay tomorrow.

There was no question that President Eisenhower would sign the 745 million dollars annual pay increase bill whisked through by the Senate and House Wednesday. But the big question in servicemen's minds was when.

If the President signs the measure today, the pay increase will go into effect Friday. If he delays a day, the servicemen will have to wait until May 1 for the increased pay.

The measure, containing an average 6.7 per cent pay increase for career servicemen, cleared Congress in rapid fashion in an atkets. Mrs. Mary Harper, the home adviser, assisted the members. A luncheon of sandwiches, pie, coffee and pop was served to the workers.

Warren Evans and David Lewis will organize a boys 4-H club Thursday night at Mt. Moriah church basement. All boys of the 4-H age, 10-20, are eligible. The parents plan to attend the organizational meeting. Refreshments will be served. The farm adviser, L. B. Kimmel, will speak.

L. B. Kimmel, Frank Thomas, Alvin Gates and John C. Small attended a Farm Bureau meeting in Springfield Monday.

tempt to make the pay raises available Friday.

The pay bill, the first increase for the military since 1952, provides for selective pay increases ranging from six to 25 per cent, depending upon rating and length of service. The increases would only go to career personnel. Enlisted men with less than two years service and officers with less than three years service would receive no pay boosts.

The bill also provides for more hazardous duty pay in an attempt to attract and keep more men in the submarine and air services.

There are more than 800 kinds of earthworms in the world, and 90 different kinds in the United States.

Raleigh Woman's Club Elects New Officers

The Raleigh Woman's club met with Mrs. Lillie Stricklin Thursday with a potluck at noon.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Stella Smith, the president. Scripture was read by Mabel Serence, and prayer was offered by Susie Patterson.

The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A trio consisting of Iva Dilbeck, Mabel Serence and Tessie Carlile sang "When I Wore a Tulip."

A contribution was made by the club to send a pupil to the Music camp held each year.

Officers were elected for the coming year and are as follows: President, Stella Smith; vice president, Iva Dilbeck; secretary, Mabel Serence, and associate secretary, Lillie Cable; corresponding secretary, Ruth Barton; treasurer, Lillie Stricklin; club reporter, Susie Patterson; director of entertainment, Tessie Carlile.

Each member presented the hostess with a small gift.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Iva Dilbeck on April 21 with a potluck dinner.

Present were Ruth Barton, Tessie Carlile, Mabel Serence, Stella Smith, Iva Dilbeck, Susie Patterson, Lillie Cable and Lillie Stricklin. Visitors were Mrs. Cravins, Oscar Cable, Kenneth Patterson, C. C. Carlile and William Smith.

Mrs. Kenneth Patterson and Dale Gollhofer returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Trehey at Plainfield and with other friends in and around Plainfield.

Mrs. Paul Kimbro and daughter, Paula Sue, spent the day with Mrs. Susie Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Vineyard and son, Douglas, spent Sunday in McLeansboro with Mr. and Mrs. Claud Harwood.

Hugh and June Evans spent Sunday evening with Wilma and Bessie Patterson.

DeWayne Rogers, who injured his ankle so severely at school that surgery was required, returned to his class in a wheelchair and is now using crutches.

Mrs. Ida Newcom and Wilburn Newcom of Evansville, Ind., were here Monday to attend the funeral and burial of Walter Grable of Eldorado. Burial was in the Raleigh Masonic cemetery.

Harry Newcom is a patient in the Ferrell hospital.

The First Baptist church of Raleigh has just closed the most successful revival that the church has experienced in many years. It began with cottage prayer meetings which resulted in a number of rededications and professions of faith.

Rev. W. W. Childers of Herin brought the messages each evening and the singing was under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Howard Todd Taylor. Crowds filled the house each evening and on Sunday, March 27, all attendance records were broken in this 117 year old church. The population of Raleigh is 250 and there were 242 people in Sunday school that morning. At the close of the meeting there were 23 professions of faith, six rededications and 32 additions. Rev. Howard Taylor began a revival with the New Salem Baptist church Monday, March 28.

Marlon Brando, Grace Kelly Win Oscars

"I may have the baby right here." Best direction honors went to Elia Kazan for "On The Waterfront." The best song Oscar was won by Sammy Cahn and Jule Styne for "Three Coins In The Fountain."

"On The Waterfront" also won for best art direction, automatically giving it a set decoration plaque, technically its ninth award. But the film, shot entirely on location, had no sets so academy officials were uncertain as to who should receive the plaque.

Bob Hope, master of ceremonies for the event, kept the crowd roaring with his quips, such as, "This is Hollywood's biggest give-away program. The secret word tonight is 'shucks.'"

"The losers get monogrammed do-it-yourself suicide kits," Hope promised.

An unusual special award was voted by the Academy's board of directors to Greta Garbo for "her unforgettable" performances.

Special awards also went to Danny Kaye for his united nations film, "Assignment Children," and to Jon Whiteley and Vincent Winter as best juvenile actors in "The Little Kidnappers" (English).

Miss Garbo never received an Oscar during her long and illustrious career and the Academy decided to correct the oversight.

"Gate Of Hell," a Japanese film, was voted the best foreign language movie of the year.

Walt Disney accepted two awards and his studio netted two more, which runs his total to 24 since 1932.

Clothing Crusade Tomorrow by Local Students

A Children's Clothing Crusade will be held tomorrow, April 1, by the Hi-Tri at the Harrisburg Township high school in co-operation with the Junior high school.

The clothing may be sent tomorrow to the junior or senior high schools, or may be collected by the Hi-Tri by calling 95 at the high school office. The clothing collected will be sent by the Save the Children Federation to the less fortunate children in this country, in Korea, and in Europe.

Most needed is warm clothing—heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters and coats. Adult sizes can be cut down and used. Children's shoes are next in importance. Adult sizes may again be used except high heels. Babies' clothing is in constant demand. The clothes should be clean and in as good repair as possible.

Although the real value of the clothing can be fully appreciated only by a child whose ragged clothes or need for shoes make him unable to go to school, the bundles to be brought in tomorrow are of importance to all persons interested in the health and welfare of children whom the Save the Children Federation will be able to help as a result of the nation-wide crusade.

Federation officials urge local citizens to help speed the clothing on its way to the children by making a small cash contribution to defray the cost of sorting, reconditioning and processing the clothing.

BAKER'S APPLIANCE STORE, ELDORADO—Arch Baker, Eldorado furniture and appliance dealer, is opening his third store in Eldorado with the grand opening scheduled for Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2, of his new appliance store at 1335 Locust street. The building has been completely remodeled and is ultra modern in every respect, both inside and out. There are approximately 2,500 feet of floor space and the store is completely air conditioned. An outstanding feature of the interior is the flagstone floor covering, a most beautiful and unusual floor covering. Joe Garrison will manage the store for Mr. Baker.

Register Carriers Participating in Good Luck Four-Leaf Clover Contest

The most intensive search for four-leaf clovers ever conducted in this community gets underway today and luck will play only a small part in the venture, for the clovers are of a very special variety. The Daily Register newspaperboys, as alert and enterprising a group of independent young business men as we know of, are participating in the Good Luck Clover Newspaperboys contest being sponsored by Lever Brothers company.

With $1,000 college scholarships, bicycles, encyclopedias, and a host of other prizes as their goal, the Register's carriers will be asking their customers to save for them the green four-leaf clovers from the front panel of packages of Good Luck margarine. The entire foil wrap from the margarine's solid-pound Family Style can also be saved. During the eight-week period of the contest the carriers will pick up clovers from their customers when they make collections. Each boy is eligible for as many prizes of his choice as are covered by the number of clovers he sends in at the end of the contest. The Register's newspaperboys will also be competing against carriers from hundreds of other newspapers for the top grand prizes offered.

Ten $1,000 scholarships to the United States college of his choice will go to each of the ten boys in the United States who collects the most clovers during the period of the contest.

R. G. Spears, marketing vice president of Lever's Good Luck Products Division, stated that "the contest emphasizes the importance of the role of the nation's newspaperboys in our community and business life. Many of the famous figures in American life today began their careers as newspaperboys. It is worth noting that among them are President Eisenhower, Cardinal Spellman, Eddie Rickenbacker, Bing Crosby and Walt Disney, to name just a few."

"We hope that the college scholarships won by the ten most enterprising boys who enter the contest will help them along to success in their chosen fields."

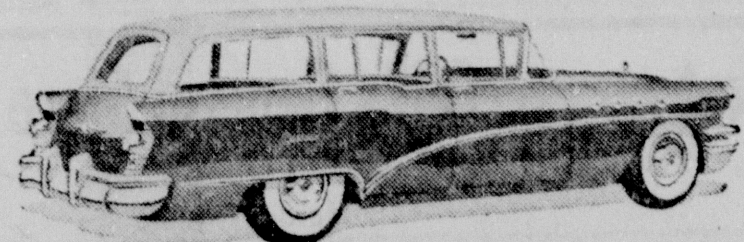

Shutters are mighty popular interior decoration today for both windows and interior doors. But they are dust catchers. The best gimmick for getting the dust out of those unmovable slanted wood strips is the brush attachment of the vacuum.

The waiter laid the check face down before him. Sam turned it over, saw the amount, $4.35 and beamed. "Lemme have your pencil, Buddy." The waiter gave him a pencil and Sam scribbled the name, "Mr. Pinkley."

"Your room number, sir," the waiter reminded.

Sam wrote down Room 821, then went through the motions of searching his pockets for change. "I don't seem to have any change. I'll just add the tip to the check."

He handed the check to the waiter. "How's that pal?"

The waiter stared at the check. "One moment, please." He headed swiftly for the door leading to the lobby.

The waiter returned, accompanied by a heavy-set man of about 40. The heavy-set man was scowling at the check the waiter had given him and the waiter was chattering excitedly, although Sam could not hear the words.

Sam went to meet them. "What's the matter?" he asked deliberately. "I just signed the tab for the check, that's all."

"That is not all," said the heavy-set man firmly. "I, sir, am Mr. Pinkley."

Sam gulped. "What a coincidence, two of us by the same name staying at the same hotel." "I am not staying here," Mr. Pinkley snapped. "I, sir, am the manager of the hotel!"

The desk sergeant poised his pen over the police blotter. "Name?" "Sam Cragg. C-r-a-g-g, anybody knows that. But look, captain, this is all a mistake."

"It sure is. Previous convictions?"

"Whaddya mean, previous convictions?" asked Sam indignantly. "Do I look like a crook?"

"Yes. Now, you might as well tell the truth, because we'll only check your fingerprints and it'll be so much the worse for you if you lie. How many previous convictions?"

"None! I ain't even been in the clink before—well, hardly ever—and it wasn't for anything serious. Just little things, like now."

The desk sergeant looked at the two arresting officers. "What's the charge?"

"Larceny. Forgery," said one of the policemen.

"Oh, sure, just little things," said the desk sergeant sarcastically.

"Can you put down just plain dumbness, Sarge?" grinned one of the policemen.

"Who's dumb?" challenged Sam.

"You are, stupid," retorted the policeman. "Otherwise you wouldn't go into a hotel dining room and sign the manager's name to the check and then, to make it worse, put down Room 800 and something when the hotel's only got four floors."

Sam winced. "Anybody can make a mistake. Johnny pulled the same stunt and it worked. There wasn't nothing..."

Sam stopped, realizing that he was talking too much. He said desperately, "Ain't it true that a prisoner's allowed to make a phone call?"

"A jailhouse lawyer," said the desk sergeant. He shrugged.

"Okay. One call."

Sam grabbed the phone, took off the receiver. "Give me New York."

The desk sergeant snatched the phone from his hand.

"That's long distance. You're not getting any free long distance calls on this phone."

"But I don't know anybody in this burg. The only person I know, I mean the only real friend I got in the whole world is in New York. He'll come running out to square this beef."

"Maybe he's a Congressman," suggested one of the policemen. "Why don't you write him a letter? Everybody writes to his Congressman."

"Look, captain," Sam said to the desk sergeant, "be a sport. Okay, it's a long distance call. I ain't got a red cent in my pocket, but Johnny'll pay you. He's got 500 fish in his pocket. He'll come buzzing round out here and pay you. He—he might even slip you a couple of bucks. All of you."

"Bribery!" exclaimed the desk sergeant. He picked up his pen again.

"No!" howled Sam. "I wasn't. Don't put that down. It's bad enough. I just meant Johnny'll pay up everything. Everything I owe. The dinner—the lunch at the hotel, the phone bill."

The desk sergeant could not quite conceal a grin. "All right, son. I'll trust you for that phone call. Go ahead and make it."

Sam caught up the phone once more. Hurriedly he put through his call, then waited. The hotel operator rang Room 821 and rang and rang. Finally, she said, "I'm sorry, there's no answer."

"Gimme the bell captain—Eddie Miller!" Sam cried desperately.

"This is important..."

"One moment, please..."

After a long wait, Eddie Miller's voice said cautiously, "Bell captain..."

"Eddie! This is Sam Cragg. Look, I haven't got time. I'm in a jam. Have you seen Johnny Fletcher since this morning?"

"Not since about 10 o'clock. He came in then and—say, aren't you kidnapped?"

"No—no. I mean, I was, but I got away. I'm okay. Except—I'm in the clink!"

"You're in jail? Where...?"

"I dunno. Wait..."

Sam turned to the desk sergeant. "What town is this?"

"Peekskill."

Paper Says Salk Vaccine Provided Polio Immunity

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today that "not one child who received the Salk polio vaccine during last spring's nation-wide tests contracted the dread disease."

The copyrighted story in the Scripps-Howard newspaper, written by staff writer William Mitchell, said "This is the heart of the Francis report, to be released April 12, which evaluates the drug."

The newspaper said it obtained its information from "an unimpeachable medical source."

The story said: "The results of the test should give hope to every mother and father in the world that children will in the future never have to suffer from this crippling disease."

Labor Department To Keep 'Hands Off' Annual Wage Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said today the federal government intends to maintain a "hands off" policy in the guaranteed annual wage dispute between the CIO and the auto industry.

Mitchell said, "issues that develop between the employer and union are a matter for the employer and a union to settle. We will not throw the weight of the government on one side or the other."

Mitchell said the dispute should be settled at the bargaining table and the Labor Department will express no opinion on the guaranteed annual wage.

Begin Survey of Archaeological Sites Along Big Muddy River

CARBONDALE, Ill.—A preliminary survey of archaeological sites along the Big Muddy river north-west of Benton has been started, according to Irvin Peithman, member of the Southern Illinois University Museum staff.

Peithman and Elmo Heaton, SIU student from Benton, found some evidence of past occupancy

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

by Indians during an observational field trip through the area one day last week but were hampered by high water as the river flooded lowland areas.

The survey area includes the region in a proposed lake area of the Rend Lake district extending 11 miles upstream from the vicinity of the proposed location of a dam near Rend City in Franklin county. The purpose of such a survey would be to locate Indian village, camp, and mound sites in an area that might be covered if water is impounded in the area.

Persons having information of such Indian habitation sites in the region may contact Heaton at Benton or write to the SIU Museum, Peithman said.
